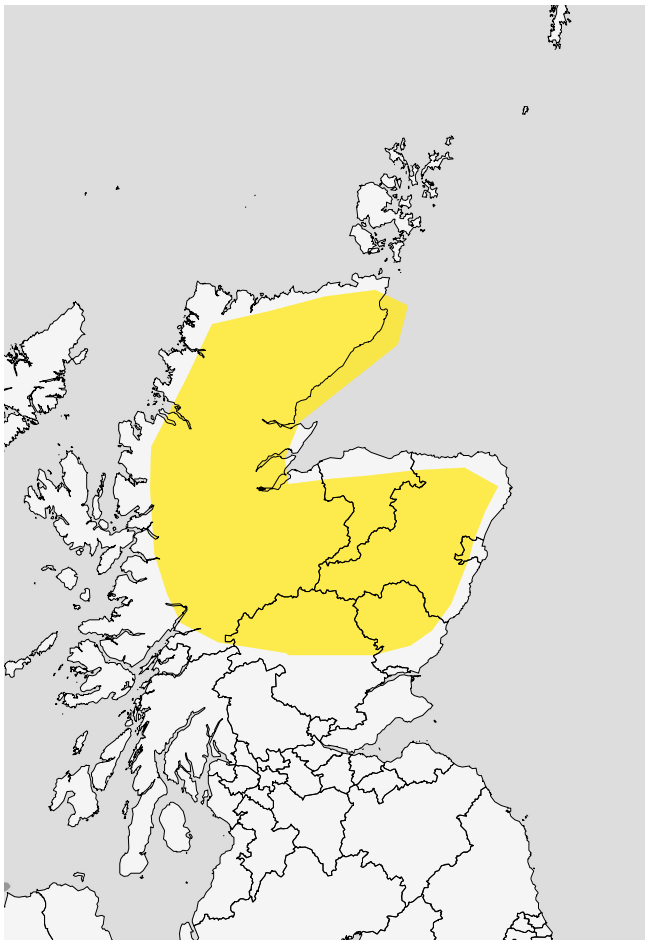
Yellow warning
Snow

Between
00:00 Thu 7 Apr 2022 and
09:00 Thu 7 Apr 2022



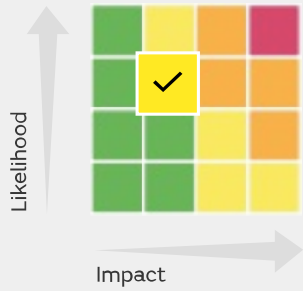
Wintry conditions overnight and early Thursday may lead to some travel disruption in a few areas.

What to expect

- Some roads, and possibly railways, may be affected by snow, leading to longer journey times
- Possible icy surfaces leading to increased likelihood of injuries or accidents, probably mainly on higher roads

Further details

Overnight showers and longer spells of rain and sleet, will turn increasingly to sleet and hill snow by Thursday morning, leading to snow accumulations on higher ground, with 1-4 cm above 300 m. Temporary low level accumulations are possible, perhaps mainly across Caithness but should be short-lived. Ice may form on some inland and upland roads by morning.



Medium likelihood of low impacts
